SMANGHAL, con Warking Road GUNBOAT FOR MACAO. CHRISTENING CEREMONY

The christening ceremony of the new guaboat for Macso, which was built in England and despatched to Hongkong in sections, will take place on Wednesday next. We understand that Madame Rocadas, wife of the Governor of Macao, will christen the vessel which is to be named after the Portuguese colony. It may not be improbable that Governor Rocadas will also be present at the function which should be an interesting one in view of the large number of Portuguese officials of naval military and civil rank who will congregate Hongkong on that occasion. The launching will take place at the Kowloon Docks.

SMUGGLING INTO AMBRICA.

HONGKONG AGENTS' METHODS.

An interesting side-light was thrown upon the methods pursued by agents in Hongkong of smuggling Chinese into the United States in the course of the hearing of a case, which came before the Appeal Court this morning.

The appellants in the case were the Po On firm, shoemakers, of 219, Queen's Road West, and the respondent was Chan Kwan Shan, a merchant of 24, Queen's Road Central.

In the original action the Chan Kwan Shar was plaintiff, and the Po On firm, together

The plaintiff claimed the recovery of a sum of $200, which had been deposited at the request of the defendant with one Chan Yik Po; and which deposit defendants guaranteed to be given up to the plaintiff by a written guarantee dated 23rd, April, 1908. The plaintiff stated that the deposit was not returned by Chan Yik Po to him on demand, and he claimed its return and brought the action because he thought the firm were intending to close up their business.

In this action Mr. E. Potter (instructed by Mr. F. X. d'Almada e Castro) appeared for the appellants, and Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., with whom was Mr. P. Sydenham Dixon, was for the respondents.

As will be remembered in the original action judgment was given against the Po On firm. and the appeal now made was made on the ground that the firm as a firm was not responsible for a guarantee given by a partner.

Counsel were engaged for several hours in arguing this point of law, and in the course of the hearing the fact was brought out that this sum of $200 paid down on deposit was deposited with Chan Yik Po on the understanding that a certain Chinese had to be safe- | chorus opened with the bell, which, of sonorous, ly smuggled into the United States in defiance of the Chinese Exclusion Act. The failure this operation, of course, led to the request the return of the money.

The case was then adjourned.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE:-

CELEBRATION OF GLORIOUS FOURTH. Yesterday, July 4th, being the feast of the Rev. Bro. Christian, director of St. Joseph's College, the present and past pupils gave a concert in honour of the occasion. His Lordship Mgr. Fozzani, accompanied by Rev. G., Spade, was present. On entering the concert hall, his Lordship and Bro. Christian were greeted with loud and prolonged applause, while Mr. O. Baptista, the pianist, struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," The hall wore its most festive appearance, being tastefully decorated with flags and evergreens,- Conspicuous among the decorations were the Shield and the Cup which the Senior and Iunior teams secured during the last football season. Master Peter Prevost read an appropriate address from the present pupils, while Master Cheung Kai read an address in Chinese on behalf of the Chinese section of the School. The greetings of the past pupils were tendered, in short but elequent addresses; by Messrs. F. M. -de-Jesus,-A. da. Silva and J. Alves. The latter gentleman, who is vice-president of the Catholic Union being much impressed with the necessity of co-operation among his compatriots in the essay on "Co-operation." His Lordship Mgr. Pozzoni also said a few words appropriate to the occasion. At the conclusion Rev. Bro. THE ROWLOON O. C. OPEN AIR CONCERT.

Favoured by a calm evening, though not quite so, appropriately, happy in this respect as last year, the K. C. Club's annual open; als concert took place on Saturday, evening, and a large crowd occupied seats in the sensibly arranged auditorium. The grounds were nicely decorated, and plenty of electric lights lit up the little stage and orchestra. Mr. Stewart and his Committee are to be congratulated on financial success; but, why such tedious 'Waits'? The singers were not heard to the same advantage as they might have been, for the sound board of the specially exected stage was covered with flags, marring the very effect the wood was put up for. Last year this

Mrs. Belilios sang "A Chain of Roses" prettily, and in response to an undoubted encore, gave us a dainty-little morceau , which showed off her well trained voice so well that she had to again bow acknowledgments. Miss Parke was down" for "Kashmiri Song" by Laurence Hope. Had this been accounted for without the drapery, her voice would have been better heard. Later she sang "Love's Garden" for with Ng Ching Chuen, a partner, were defen- | which she took a recall. A real encore was that given to Mr. White, who, although he had just obliged by singing the difficult "The moon hath raised her lamp above "(Lily of Killarney) with Mr. Ayris, in place of the duet down for Mrs. Kew and that gentleman, lustily translated." The Trumpeter." Spontaneous and general applause was the result. Mr. Auderson and Mr. Gonzales disappointed their friends, but Mr. Gregory was quite a success, the little Customs Officer breaking his audience all up with his versatility. His "character" song and dance were very quaint. So was his musical fatce. The glass solos were clever, and should be a nice drawing room attraction.

Turning to the instrumental part of the programme, the 13th Rijputs once more made their bow to a Hoogkong audience, and very heartily were they greeted. : They first played the selection from Il Trovatore. This music, with its abundant charm of Italian melody, won for Mr. Coke and his men a feeling appreciation, which, viewing the wandering harmonic subtleties and instrumental colouring, was or is, a tribute to the skilful interpretation of the Hongkong band. The Miserers and in-tune tone, rung out, as in the play, while this beautiful part of the work was played. Then followed the crude and difficult "Ahme, with what anguish," and cornet solo so well known as ah che la morte, the finale to which was splendidly worked up. Probably, some will say that the recitative for baritone was as good as any. thing, the light and shade, and general expression causing audible encomiums. At the conclusion the audience were unstinted in their applause. But the pièce de resistance of the evening was undoubtedly the overture to William Tell which those present would not allow the band to leave without acknowledge ment. Mr. Coke, whose conducting is singularly clear, yet emphatic, gave us a charming interpretation of a time-honoured work. The storm's approach, its gradual cessation, the pretty 3-4 movement in which Rossini reproduces the calm after the orage. One heard the shepherds playing their flageolets on the hill sides while the birds sung merrily, welcoming once again their bright sun. Never too arrogant in any one section, the Rajputs certainly excelled themselves, and, after the quick movement, in which bye-the-bye, the cornets opened in excellent tone and crispness, and drums played with preciseness, the audience, ladies and their escorts, broke out into rounds. of applause, which Mr. Coke made the band acknowledge by first saluting the listeners, and then repeating the quick movement. "Dorothy" Selection, Celliers' masterpiece, was always noteworthy for its hunting scene, The band not only took us buck to the old days of the 8-voy, but gave us the inspiring hunting music with effects-whips and cries being smartly worked up during the translation. The reeds surpassed themselves, and we must not forget to mention the splendid handling of the tenor saxophone, which, we learn, opened the overture instead of the bassoon. We congratulate the officers on the artistic contribution to the programme by their band. "The King" was played shortly before midnight, but many people left when the selection was over.. We again felicitate Mr. Stewart and his Committee on the general success of the

COMMITTEE AND ASSOCIATIONS.

[From Our. Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 3rd July. In appreciation of the exellent services of H.R. Viceroy Chang Jen-chun during his administration of the two Kwang Provinces, the Nine Charitable Institutions, the Seventy-two guilds, the Self-Government Society, the Central Relief Committee and other Associations it Canton are preparing addresses and gifts, in the shape of embroidered hangings, umbrellas, &c., to be presented to him before his departure from Canton. H.E. Chang has proved himself to be a very energetic official and has done a great deal in reforming the ad ministration besides promoting education and industries, daring the term of office in Capton, thus carning great popularity of the officials, gentry and populace. H.E. Chang's promotion from the Liang Kwang Viceroyalty to Nanking is imuch regretted by the people of the two Kwang Provinces.

Owing to his being about to relinquish the reins of office 11.E. Chang Jen-chun has issued a notification to inform the public that he has ceased to receive petitions from the 2nd inst.

BRITISH CONSUL'S CONGRATULATIONS. At II o'clock this morning H. E. Victroy Chang received Mr. H. H. Fox, acting British Consul-General at Canton. The purport of the Consul's visit was to tender congratulations to the Viceroy on his recent Viceregal promotion.

COMMISSIONERS' NEETING TLACE. BARLY COMMENCEMENT OF DELIBERATIONS.

It would appear that our reference to the first mee.ing of the Portuguese and Chinese special Commissioners, who met in Hongkong last week for the first time, as having been one that had been initiated under the happiest auspices auguring well for the estente cordiale of the two high officials, who had been delegated by their respective Governments to settle this long pending question, was unconsciously invested with a sort of prophetic ring that has thus early proved the truth of the assertion. Long had it been speculated in the minds of those who interest hemselves in the forthcoming deliberations of the Commission where would be the meeting place of the Conference. As " Glenealy" Buildings, just then vacated by the Gorman Consulate, were leased for residential quarters for the Chinese Commissioner, the report was promptly brui ed about that the Conference would hold its sittings within those buildings. That little credebce could have been attached to the report was the conclusion arrived at by the thinking public, who could not suppose that the matter could be definitely arranged without reference. to, and agreement with, the Portuguese Commissioner in the first instance.

Another suggestion was that the Council Chambers of the Colonial Government might ne utilized. Yet a third was the leasing of a room within the City Hall building. To those, sho are acquainted with the interminate noise obtaining in the vicinity, it was evi ent that neither St. Andrew's nor St. George's hall offered the attractions for the purpose of the Conference.

From sources which can claim unimpeachable faith; we bave to day derived information to the effect that an agreement ha been reachd between General Sir Joachim Machado and H.E. Ko Yu-him whereby the Commission will hold its sittings, in private, in the annexe of " Duant," the private residence of Sephor J.] Leiria, the well-known Consul for Portuga in Hongkong. If the report is true-an we have no reason to doubt its veracity-Mr. Leiria will enjoy the distinction of having the honour of throwing open his hospitable doors to two officials of the high rank General Machado and Commissioner Ko. The distinction is certainly an enviable one, inasmuch as the Commission's deliberations will "be of historical and memorable import. # Those who are in a position to speak; when questioned by a member of our staff; have no official confirmation or denial for publication as to the accuracy of our report; but we feel sufficient confidence in giving it publicity since within the next few days, at latest, the Conference is expected to commence its labours.

In the meantime, as reported in the Hongkong Telegraph on Friday last, H.E. Ko is away in Cauton to tender his congratulations to Viceroy-Chang Jen-chun on his recent promotion. Until His Excellency's return the first sitting is pending. The Commissioner is expected back in a day or two. The French language will be the medium of the exchange of views and discussion, and the deliberations will, as above stated, be conducted in private.

VICEROY CHANG'S CONCERN.

[From Our Own Correspondent] Cinton, 3rd July.

It is the intention of H.E. Viceroy Chang Jen Chun not to leave Canton until the negotiations between the Chinese and the Portuguese Delimitation Commissioners on the Macao delimitation question have been completed. His Excellency accordingly yester day wired to Peking for authority to remain here and at the same time asked the Imperia Government to instruct the new Cunton Vicoroy. HE. Yuan Shu Hsun, to proceed south at an early date in order to have an opportunity of conferring with and assisting H.E. Ko Yu Him in his difficult mission.

GENERAL MACHADO.

· Some of the older members of the Portuguese community in Hongkong and a few of their more intimate friends called in a body on General Machado, at "Kingsclere," on Friday last. His Excellency, who had been previously aprised of the visit, received his compatriots officially and was attended by the Assistant Commissioner, Senhor D Cinatti, The visitors. who did not possess any official status, called in their personal capacity. General Machado welcomed them most cordially and spent fully balf-an-hour in conversation with his nationals who had called to do honour to their distinguished compatriot. The topics of conversation dealt with principally had reference to such all important subjects as education, the successful colonization of Hongkong, the immigration and development of the Portuguese colony on the Island, Portuguese influence in Africa with special reference to the recent Delagea Bay Convention, and the future prospects of the Cot'ugueso African possessions whose destinies the General exercised such an important influence in wielding. His Excellency was particularly struck by the size of the Portuguese community in Hongkong with some of whose oldest members he felt gratified at bring personally acquainted that evening. After cordial- sought, secretly, it was to devise means to ly thanking his visitors, the small party begged leave to retire.

In the course of the forencon to-day General Machado, attended by Sephor Cinatti and Capt. Norton called on one of the members of the l party at his office to return the visit-an act of courtesy which was very highly appreciated on behalf of the gentleman called upon as well that, on Friday, Mr. J. PORTUGAL'S RIGHTS OVER MACAO. A Portuguese writes as follows in the N. C. D. News, under date Shanghai, 29th uit. :--

Before the meeting of the Commissioners, which is now expected to take place in a few days, General Machado and Senhor Cinnati having already arrived, I may be allowed to address you another letter.

A literary and news review is published every ten days in the capital city of the district of Hong-San under the name of Heong-San-Sanpou. Particular attention is paid in this review to the question of the delimitation of the Macao boundaries. In its issue of May to appears the memorial which Chang Chih-tung, who was then Viceroy of Canton, presented to the Throne after the signature of the Protocol of Lisbon of 'arch' 26, 1887.

The Vida Aor 1 of Macao publishes a translation in Portuguese of this important Chinese official document, from which I extract the following passages, as they appear of great interest at this juncture as reflecting the train of the Cantonese mind at the time the Protocol was negotiated and as affording an explanation of their present attitude towards Portugal. Chang Chih-tung begins by quoting the memorial, of the contents of which he was apprised, presented to the Throne by the Tsungli Yamen giving the reasons for the negotiations which led to the signature of the Protocol.

The Tsungli Yamen writes: "The opium proceeds from India and is shipped to China and deposited in Hongkong and Macao, and from these two places it is sent to other ports for sale. For its fiscalization, in order to prevent smuggling, the co-operation of England and Portugal is required. "With the permission of H. M. the Emperor, Taotai Chao lao lim in the company of S Robert Hart was sent in February, 1886, t Hongkong to enter into arrangements with the British authorities.

"It was then found that, although the cooperation of Hongkong was important, that o Macao was necessary, for the effective suppres sion of smuggling

" In view of this fact, it was decided to issue secret orders to Sir Robert Hart to send to Portugal the Commissioner of Customs, Duncan Campbell, who was in London agent for the Inspectorate General, to treat of this question."

At last Sir Robert Hart reports officially the receipt of a telegram from the Portuguese Minister for Foreign Affairs fixing these four points :-

" Portugal to send to China a minister to , negotiate a treaty of commerce. , " Perpetual occupation and government of

Macao by Portugal. "The territory of Macao cannot be ceded to another nation. " Macto will co-operate in the same manner as it is done in Hongkong." Permission to sign the Protocol containing these points was given to Mr. Duncan Campbell, and arrangements were made through the British Minister at Peking for Portugal to send a Minister Plenipotentiary to China to negotiate the treaty, and orders were conveyed to the Portuguese Authorities at Macao to give effect to the stipulated co-operation.

The Tsungli Yamea proceeds: "Macao has been in occupation of Portugal since the time of Emperor Kin Tsing, of the Ming dynasty, and, should we insist on refusing to recognize this occupation as perpetual, our refusal would be a dead letter. The obstacles to the collection of the customs duties and likin tax would also be the greater without any chances of recovering Macao.

"With the realization of the treaty the right to the collection of these imposts would be recovered and fiscal matters would be put in

"The duties, which would otherwise be lost to us through smuggling, could be collected in the custom house which is to be established. "The fugitive criminals who formerly found shelter in Macao shall be liable to capture.

"Above all, as Portugal is daily becoming poorer, rich and powerful nations like France, the United States, Russia and Germany, who regard Macao with covelous eyes, with a view to depositing troops there, may think of acquiring that territory by paying a large sum; for this reason there must be included in the treaty the explicit condition-that-that-territory cannot be'ceded, to any other Power." Chang Chih-tung was evidently not satisfied with the Tsungli Yames as will be seen from the remarks made by him. The following is from his pen : "One can see that the occupation of Macao by the Portuguese dates from a long time, and the Tsungli Yamen recognizing that so ex tended a period has elapsed without having recovered the place, and having reason to apprehand that other pations covet that territory, made up its mind to come to terms with Portugal. In appearance it was for the collection of imposts and repression of criminals that the assistance of Portugal was prevent the absorption and usurpation of that territory. The consequence is we succeeded indirectly in restraining Macao with benefit to the

but there are many dangers, which must not lost sight of, and I have in consequence been spending the last few days thinking anxiously on the pros. and come. of the whole question.

This is an important matter, and I must, I

Here, Chang Chih-tung points out seven counteract such dangers.

"Although the Protocol," remarks the dissufferers by the recent earthquake in Portugal tinguished Viceroy, "has already been signed by Duncan Campbell, the treaty has to be discussed and agreed to between the Portuguese Minister, who has come to Chipa, and the Taungli Yamen.

"Regarding the perpetual occupation of Macao we must say that, in conse quence of the co-operation of the Portuguese in the collection of imposts, the ground rent is waived, but there is no cession of the territory in their occupation, which is not to belong to Fortagal.

"Besides, it is stated in the Protocol that Portugal cannot surrender Macao to another nation; therefore Macao is granted by China to the Portuguese as a place of residence, but the territory continues to be Chinese.

"We must say explicitly that Macae was perpetually ceded to the Portuguese to live there with the exemption of ground-rent, but it cannot be considered as a Portuguese possession. "The fact that the place cannot be given up to another nation is a proof that Macao continues.

"As the place cannot be caded by Portugal to another power, our cession consists only innomine and our rights remain unimpaired.

He adds that the Tsungli Yame 1 was not ac-Macao, and this is the reason why he makes known his views in order to obviate difficulties. He insists on the forthcoming Treaty being negotiated between the Tsungli Yamea and the Portuguese Minister in conformity with the indications as pointed out by him.

Nevertheless, the Treaty was negotiated. signed and ratified, integrally, on the lines as set forth in the Protocol.

But the spirit which dictated the distinguished Viceroy's memorial to the Throne is still hovering over the whole question, now in its last phase,

The Dixon Case.

BONGKONG SOLICITOR SUSPENDED TOR THREE YEARS.

JUDGMENT OF THE FULL COURT.

Mr. Clive Fletcher Dixon, a Hongkong solicitor, late of the firm of Messrs. Eastings and Hastings, has been suspended from practising law in the Colony for a period of three years.

This was the decision of the Chief Justice (Sir Francis Piggott) and Mr. Justice Gemparts, delivered in the Supreme Court this forenoon. Mr. Dixon, whose ability as a lawyer in this Colony is well-known, was, it will be remembered, called upon to show cause why h should not be disbarred, or, otherwise, struck off the Rolls of the Supreme Court, for alleged misconduct. The accusation against him was that of alleged embezzlement of sums paid to him by clients on behalf of the firm.

ment of the Full Court was, as already stated delivered this morning.

The trial lasted several days, and the judge In giving his decision the Chief Justice said:-Messrs, Hastings and Hastings, solicitors practising in this Court, bring to the notice of the Court certain alleged acts committed by their managing clerk, Mr. Clive Flatcher Dixon, also a solicitor admitted to practice in this court, which, it is suggested, necessitate the exercise "This mode of procedure does not conflict of disciplinary measures by this Court. The nature of these charges will appear from the judgment. The one which I have to mention is the alleged embezzling of sums paid by clients 'On the extent of the territory in our occupa- to Mr. Dixon on behalf of the firm for services rendered by him as managing c'e k of the firm whether this allegation, involving as it did, a criminal charge, should not have been tried beare no limits to be determined as to territorial fore a criminal court. Mr. Dixon, by his counsel, strongly contended, that this was the proper. He does not appear to believe much procedure and said that he was willing and desirous of standing his trial. Messrs. Hasttection of the imperial revenue in South China | ings declined to prosecute and maintained that this Court was bound to entertain the very strongly leaned towards the trial of the question before the Assizes but after bearing quainted with all the circumstances concerning. the very able arguments of Counsel on both sides we came to the conclusion that the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Court exists altogether independently of their being concurrent jurisdiction in the criminal courts, that it may be exercised in the face of an acquittal and that it might even |-be-declined_in_the_face_of_a_corviction The point really involved is, I think, the claim to have a charge of this sort tried before a jury. As to this I have no doubt that as the proceedings for striking a solicitor off the roll-must in this colony come before the court neither the old English procedure by way o inquiry before the Masters nor the new English prevail in the end and an era of good-will procedure of inquiry before a committee of the Incorporated Law Society reported in either case to the court be impossible. The motion comes before the Court as normally constituted; and therefore if the Court should think fit either on account of the complexity of the question involved or of the doubt which the facts raised to call to its aid a jury it would be within its power in doing so. The question is of great moment to both parties-of the gravest moment to Mr. Dixon. I thought it right therefore to ask my learned brother to sit with me so that the hearing of the motion has been before the Full Court. We intimated, however, that if we should in the end find a jury necessary we should cause one to be empirelled: We have not found it necessary, for the question in issue has proved to be simpler than at one time seemed likely. I desire it the first place to make two remarks of general nature. The action which Messrs. Hastings took was altogether unavoidable, was. forced upon them by the nature of the information received. It is difficult to put one self in the

parently conducted them with great success and to the great satisfiction of the clients has been guilty of appropriating money pa by the clients to him on account of the firm. I shall be compelled to criticise what they in fact did in one or two instances, but th criticism must be tempered by the recognition of the very difficult and most painful position in which they were placed. So too Mr. Dixon. (if he is innocent of the charges brought against him as he alleges he is) was placed in a mo distressing and painful position and I would willingly if it were possible find in this fact some pallistion for somethings that he has done. He has been defended with zeal and devotion by his prefessional advisers and if the finding of this Court could have been staved off by advocacy and handling of his case it would have night or yesterday morning. It is surmised been achieved most legitimately. I have now to ma' e one further general remark as nature of these proceedings, because my finding. high and topped with glass. Up to the present | thepends in great measure upon it. The motion was made by Messre Hastings because there is no representative body representing the body of solicitors incorporated as is the Incorporated Law Society in England, who could assume the duty of putting the matter before us officially and the proceedings insvitably tookthoultimate form of au issue between Messrs, Hastings and Mr. Dixon. But the dispute between them covers a wide area, involves many subordinate issues. none of which is before us. Even he issue which is apparently before the Court whether Messrs, Hastings have proved the charge or whether day's date;-A telegram has been received Mr. Dixon has disproved the charge is not befrom the officials of Kwei Lum, Kwangei, fore us, precisely in this form because as il The idea of restraining Macao is a good one; advising that incessant and heavy rainfall has shall presently point out some important quesbeen experienced there during the last waek tions of onus would seem to be involved and wore in fact preed which I did not think are siderably causing the volume of water to swell really raised. The Grant Charge was at our suggestion.

properly withdrawn. It was at best one man's word against another, and I must confess I should not have liked such a charge pressed. on the syidence available. With regard to the Wan Hi charge I am bound to criticise, subject to what I have already said, the action in connection with this man. In the first place i do not approve of the police being made use of in private matters. The police are public officers and should not be used not should they land themselves to being used as private detectives, if only for this reason—that sit must wonken their authority and afficacy in the discharge of their public duties. Of course, there was in this case a criminal charge involved but I have been informed throughout these proceedings that Messir. Huslings always declined to prosecute. And even if the police had contemplated taking up the case taken with regard to Wan Hi looking on him as a witness was not regular. I also object altogether to the police surveillance to which the man was subjected and I am not surprised that he complained. Secondly a statement was taken from this witness on oath before Mr. Wilkinson acting in his capacity as notary public in the presence of Inspector Hansen. I think this was irregular, but we were told that hit is a practice which has long prevailed in the colony for notaties to take such statements. on oath. Obviously therefore what was done. in this case was perfectly bona-fide. Our procedure does not recognise any mode for manufacturing evidence. I use the word in no offensive sense-except in a special procedure for perpetuating testimony or binding people down to statements other than are provided by the Statutory Declarations Act. introduced into this colony by Ordinance eight of 1893 and this did not profess to be a statutory declaration. A notary's powers in connection with the administration of oaths and irrespective of the duties of his office are these; He may take statutory declarations but these declarations must be made voluntarily; the declarant must go to the notary and ask him to take his declaration. This was in no sense a voluntary declaration. And it must be in the form prescribed by the Act which this was not. Secondly, under order 38, rule 6, examinations, affidavits, declarations and other matters may be sworn before a notary in matters pending before the High Court. There was at the time this man's statement was made no matter pending before this Court. The fact that the statement was 'not 'intended' to be used is immaterial. The objections to such a proceeding as was adopted in this case are clear. The man who has made such a statement. knows he has made it and must in giving his evidence be conscious of it and that he-mightbe confronted with it; yet it is statement on oath to which the penalty for perjury does not attach. It is therefore for the purposes of the Court valueless and can only avail the person who has so obtained it. But the law as I have said does not sanction such a proceeding. Oaths can only be administered under the sanction of the law. Further statements on outh are public statements and they must be available to both parties. The effect of thes proceedings and the weight to be attached to this man's evidence in this question was whether he had paid the $20 alleged to have been due from him under the agreement and said to have been made by him with Mr. Dixon to pay $50 for costs of which he had paid $30on account. Now the moment this man realises that this was the question involved, when it was put to him with police accompaniment it. would be uppatural for him to say that he had said it. In due course a perception might dawn on him that the real question be was being asked about was whether he had made such an agreement and that he was not charged with not having paid money said to be due by him. But even if he had not made such an agreement he would almost inevitably stick to his original statement, induced by (acts which had inevitably clouded his clear appreciation of the real question in issue. As the case stood after his examination was composition of a firm of solicitors in extensive cluded, I could not have found the charge. practice suddenly informed that their managing proved. I, however, put cert in questions to: clerk in whom implicit trust has been placed, him in order to see whether he did in fact apwho has been entrusted with the conduct o preciate the issue. Fis acawers were intelheavy and important cases, who has apligent, appeared to be truthful and seemed to clear away the cloud; but putting the question to myself afterwards am I quite confident that the cloud which must have been in his mind at first was absolutely cleared away? I cannot answer it affirmatively with such complete. satisfaction to myso'f as to enable me to say yes and so hold that the charge is proved perhaps not proven but we do not know that form of finding in England and I am therefore compelled to find that the charge has not been fully and satisfactorily established on the evidence stand ing by itself and apart from the alleged confusion to which I shall come presently. I pass to the Wong case and here I find very considerable difficulty in coming to a conclusion The question that troubles me is this. Is the case more substantial then one man's word. against another? And there are two subordies pate matters also that trouble me-1 am far, from wishing to attribute to Wong Hui Tong any intention, of wilfully deceiving the Court, But this point I cannot pretend to appreciate; how an action of the most important character affecting, the very existence of a firm of high standing in Canton, involving enormous costs should have been financed entirely by one partner, as he himself says, out of his personal resources. He produced a private book which we could admit as evidence but upon which has was cross examined and be vald this book showed all these payments to Mesers Hustings on account of costs. But some of these payments were apparently made by an agent in Hongkong, though in many cases they were brought by Mr. Wong bimself Was this agent Wong's private agent or the agent of the firm, but he bimself said that there were no entries in the books of the firm. Tut ling the sleeping partners out of the question there were other active partners on Wong's svidence the firm does not appear to have been charged with any por sine chara of difficulty. Everything that took place in find motive it must be the necessary induction various sums on four different dates. The Messrs, Hautings' office between Mr. Wong from evidence laid before it and not from second is to the effect that he on the 18th of 19th | police. Mr. Dixon says that the balance of the Hul Tong and Mr. Dixon was through the reckless unsubstantiated statements. The only of July paid Mr. Dixon $500 for costs to the sgreed costs of $20 was never demanded by him medium of an interpreter. Everything that Mr. Wong says took place might be perfectly true and yet never have reached or been displayed in his letter of the 30th of March Tunggave his evidence in a clear and apparently costs and, if he shought fit, to remit the balance understood by Mr. D xon. There is only one piece of his evidence so far as I can see which directly associates Mr. Dixon with the payment. of the moneys whether for loans or the $500 for costs which it is alleged was embezzled. the wrong but it certainly comes well within ducted his case. It was suggested that the Dixon in the presence of Tam Wing Kwong Mr. Wong says he paid the money into Mr. Dixon's hands. But it is with regard to this case that what I said at the beginning of this. judgment is important. The question is not whether if the case had been between Messrs. Hastings and Mr. Dixon which would be entitled to a verdict but whether the case against Mr. Dixon, if it had been presented dispassionately by a public official, has been proved. .It is not a case as to who ought to have producod Hung, the dismissed interpreter, as a witposs, but whether this case can be proved without his, whether we can exercise our disciplinary powers in the absence of the person who can alone give the syldence which would bring home the offence with which Mr. Dixon stands charged as a solicitor. It is said he will not come because he would incriminate him ell That is irrelevant to this issue. He might be dead and yet the difficulty would be just the same, I agree that possibly the facts con-"nected with the charges if well f unded might have come to Mr. Hastings' knowled e without Hung. But Hung is, as the case stands, at the bottom of the whole thing and I ask myself this question-Can this charge be proved without him as the case stands? It will be said-Look at the difficulties. Is it fair to impose this obligation on Messrs. Hastings? in this case Yes. The question would raise entirely different considerations if Mesers. Hastings had merely dismissed Mr. Dixon and he had brought an action for wrongful dismissal. We cannot treat this application as if it were such an action and even if we were to act upon Mr. Tam's evidence I am bound to say that the negotiations between Mr. Tam and Hung about getting Hung back into the office, in which almost a promise was made in Mr. Hastings name to take him back, seem to throw a bare over which I am certainly not going to attempt to dispel except to say this-it is really unnecessary to say-that much inducements or half promises, or whatever they may be called as were made by Tam to Hung were not made with Mr. John Hastings, authority but were the direct opposite of his intentions, expressed or implied. I think in the circumstances that this is again a case in which I should have adopted the Scotch formula "not proven but as I cannot do so as in Wan Hi's case, am bound to find the case is not established subject to what I have to say on the subject of the alleged confession. To this alleged con--fession I now turn. Now here again we are confronted with a difficulty. A confession if proved cannot be pressed further than it actual. joined the firm of Hastings and Hastings, then ly went. The confession was that only small sums had been taken and in Police Court cases. This would a ver Wan Hi's case but not Wong's case. But there is a far more serious | increments in salary and commission not stipumatter to which I cailed the attention of the lated for in his agreement during the course of learned Counsel engaged. At the opening of the case Mr. Calthrop very wisely asked for the charges against his client to be formulated, and they were formulated. But this was for the sake of giving precision to the case. could not possibly be said to be as in the object of charges formula ed against a civil servant, in order to inform Mr. Dixon of what he was charged with, that was contained in the affidavits filed on the application for the rule and the question is whether we can ignore the fact that there is an allegation made in these affidavits that Mr. Dixon had confessed to having appropriated small sums belonging to the firm, I do not think we can look at it as merely a piece of correborative evidence but as itself embodying a charge which is brought to the Court. I think therefore that we are bound to inquire whether the confession was made as alleged. Now in considering this I am moved by no consideration other than that of ascerthining which of two persons, both solicitors of this Court, is speaking the truth. Mr. Hastings asserts that Mr. Dixon made a definite confes-Biop. Mr. Dixon absolutely denies it. Nothing is more difficult in such circumstances to decide such a question. Human memory is so fallible that it is quite a common occurrence for an honourable man in reporting a conversation to put into the mouth of the person he his been talking with words which he himself used. If Mr. Dixon had alleged that there was a mistake in Mr. Hastings' version of what he said; that there was a misunderstanding we should perhaps have found more difficulty in arriving at the truth. But he has taken up the position that Mr. Hastings has deliberately perjured himself before the Court, has wilfully perverted what he said, has put into his mouth things that he never said, that he has done this out of sheer malevolence, and with the ulterior. rid of him, that it is all part of a deeply laid managing clerk to whom many material benefits were in process of time seem to become due in order to economiss the money that these benefits would cost the firm. To this Mr. Dixon has deliberately pledged himself. To this question put by Mr. Potter what motive he attributed to Mr. Hastings To making the statement relating to the confession. Mr. Dixon would have been entitled to say he spoke to facts alone and was not obliged to search for motive but he deliberately answered the question and attributed the motives as I have above specified them. By this he must stand or fall. I disbelieve the existence of the motives which he has attributed to Mr. John W.Hastings, not because he is the senior partner of a leading firm of solicitors and Mr. Dixon puly his managing clerk but because I would not believe this of any man in the absence of swidence leading me inevitably to this con- charges which are before us. He says that he was which has been specified of the selationships of Mr. Hastings-seems hardly a sufficient official and social, between Mr. Hastings and Mr. Dixon from the beginning down to the eatly part of this year pointed to the opposite conclusion and therefore looking at the question as one merely of evidence I find this malicinus motive on the part of Mr. Hastings not substantiated in any way and therefore upproved. In this judgment I have seemed perhaps to subject Mr. Hastings' action to criticism and to have left untouched Mr. Dixon's. I have done this deliberately because that seemed to be material to the great question whether those charges were proved und because I have been more than anxious that every point which could be argued in favourof Mr. Dixon should have all possible weight attached to it. I'ut that must not be taken to imply that I approve of all Mr. Dixon's actions. Some of them which are referred to in the judgment of my learned brother seem to be very descrying of criticism. have not forgotten the fact and have endeavoured to give it its legitlmate weight but Mr. Dixon has shaped his public conduct by that of an honest man-that is to say he offered to stand a public trial at the Assizes. But on the whole case and having in conjunction with my learned brother given it the most anxicus consideration I can come to no other conclusion but this; that the confession was made by Mr. Dixon as Mr. Hastings alleges and that this corroborates the evidence given by Wan H the facts, of that case being covered by the terms of the confession, but that it does not corroborate the Wong. Hui Tung charge. Mi Dixon is therefore suspended from practising in this Court for a space of three years. Mr. Justice Gomperiz said:-This is

motion for an order that the name of Clive Fletcher Dixon, a solicitor of this Court, be removed from the Roll of the Court, for gross misconduct in his capacity as solicitor. Th facts are briefly as follows:-Mr. Dixon, who was admitted a solicitor in England in 1899, I come next to the alleged confession; can this was an unreliable witness. The suggestion in John Castings, in Hongkong, in 1904, on an agreement for four years' service as an assistant on a salary of £325 a year. He received various this service. On the 15th April, 1907, before the expiry of his first agreement an agreement wa entered into for five yours under which Mr. Dixon was to receive a higher state in dollars with increments in commission and salary and also to receive at the expiration of the term a partnership in the business. It is quite clear that the firm found & r. Dixon a valuable man and the relations between them appeared to. have been such as might have been expected between an enlightened employer and an able and trust worthy assistant. On the and of February of this year Tam Wing Kwong, a clerk in the office of Messrs. Hastings and Hastings, it. It was suggested that Mr. Dixon pur- scrupulous man might easily after the lapse of being on a visit to Hung'Kam Ning, an interpreter, who had recenily quitted the service of the firm, received from him certain information which he communicated to Mr. John Hastings. Mr. Hastings saw Hung in his office on the next day, and on successive occasions, when the latter informed him that Mr. Dixon had been in the habit of paying into the office part only of monies paid by clients on account of costs, retaining the balance himself and giving to him, Hung, part of the money. Though Mr. Hastings pressed him for le stances he gave none saying he was unable to do so. As a result of what he heard M. Hastings instituted inquiries which resulted in certain persons being discovered who have given evidence before us on which the present charges are based. On the 25th of March Mr. Hastings called Mr. Dixon into his room in the afternoop and told him what Mr. Hung Kem Ning had reported and that there was evidence on which a criminal prosecution might be brought and that he did not wish to prosecute and advised Mr. Dixon in effect to slip away quietly and without scandal. M Hastings says that Mr. Dixon confessed to have ing taken money but in small sums only, and asked-to-be-given another chance. This Mr. design conceived some time since of getting | Dixon denies and says that he admitted having taken presents, but entirely denied any misanscheme devised in order to rid himself of a proprietion. On March 31st Mr. Hastings wrote to Mr. Lixon stating that he must leave the office. as it was impossible for the firm to keep him any longer, and enclosing for signature an agreement cancelling the agreement for service. Receiving no reply Mr. Hastings wrote a forther note on the and of April requesting that the cancellation agreement might be signed and returned to him. On the same day Messrs. Mr. Dixon the ledger account and I am not at all clear myself that though Mr. Kent believed himself to be speaking the truth the mistake was not really his own. In that event of course the suggested corroboration fails. Lastly there is the date July 23, 1908, when the $500 was alleged to have been paid to Mr. Dixon. About that time it appeared from Mr. Dixon's statement in cross-examination that he had to find money for the payment of a passage and the inference suggested is that he would be able to resist temptation. But I do not thick the corroboration to be sufficiently direct -it does not go far enough. Whether Mr. Dixon was able to keep up his establishment with the means legitimately at his disposal do not know. But that Mr. Dixon was hard up in the ordinary meaning of these words in 1908 sufficiently appears from the fact that he had then $4,000 out on mortgage. If he had to find money then in July he was not driven to disbonesty. He had merely to call in the money out on mortgage. All the suggested grounds of corroboration therefore fail. I must then reject the charges based on Wong Hui Tong's evidence. I do not for a moment suggest that he has committed perjury. But charges of this sort must be fully substantiated. and if this cannot be done they must be dis-

Again in his letter of March 31 he categorically repeated the admissions be says were made to denies that he ever told Kent to give a copy of him on the 26th of that month. When he saw Mr. Dixon again after receiving the letter from Messrs, Ewens and Harston he taxed him with these admissions and asked him what he meant by denying them. So Mr. Hastings' attitude was at any rate consistent throughout. I cannot doubt that he has accurately reported what he believed at the time to have said. What then of Mr. Dixon's position? An innocent man-who-knows that-bis-record-is-clean-finds himself suddenly confronted with an odlous plot against his good name. One would expect an be therefore short of funds and less likely to indignant denial and a fixed determination to have the matter thrashed out, and to clear his reputation at all costs. We find instead a spontannous offer to leave the firm, abandoning his rights to a par nership and to the other advantages of his agreement and an undertaking offered not to take away clients of the firm—in return for what?-a permission to be allowed to practise on his own account in the Colony. I do not think I am unfair to Mr. Dixon when I say that I should have expected a firmer attitude in the face of the calumny from a man of Mr. Dixon's character and ability. Again the foundation of the charges made against Mr. Dixon at the interview was the interpreter here on 7th inst, at 3 p.m. Hung and Hung was the only authority then named by Mr. Hastings. If the charges were false then Hungwas a liar and a very despicable scoundrel. Yet this man was apparently the first person with whom Mr. Dikon put him-

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and schievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear-and-haste-or-overstrain of-modern-life. Sleeplesaness, tremblings, paintation, nervous dyspepsis, low spirits, mental and hodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of alght, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlesaness that can actite to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, hearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhausion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, affects all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbabed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, acrofutous and giandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches. &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 1/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon, Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON BENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A NEW medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of sest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urmary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from the Vetario Remedicines Co., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free.
